FULL BIO

Callum is an 18-year-old recording artist from Berlin, Maryland, known for her unique tone and synesthetic approach to music. Blending alternative rock with jazz-folk, her sound draws comparisons to FINNEAS, Phoebe Bridgers, and Hayley Williams. With emotionally raw lyrics and a captivating stage presence, Callum creates music that feels personal and timeless - whether solo or with a band, her performance will leave a lasting impression.

With a passion for songwriting she wrote her first song at 10yrs old and at 15 released her debut EP. It earned "EP of the Year" from Delaware Public Media /NPR's Hometown Heros. The lead single, 'Told Ya' from that EP delivered her first recognition from the prestigious Josie Awards in Nashville, TN. Callum is currently in the studio working on new projects, with something exciting on the way soon.

Callum went on tour in 2024-2025 promoting her original music with notable stops at festivals and events including: SXSW with USA singer-songwriters showcase, Bonaroo Music and Arts Festival on the Outeroo stage, Annapolis Songwriters Festival, Cape May Singer Songwriter Festival and Amateur Night at the Apollo in NYC. She added two sold out headliner shows in 2025 at The Pocket in Washington, DC and The Avalon Theater (Stolz Listening Room) Cambridge, MD. She had the opportunity to open for Tom Sandoval (of Vanderpump Rules and AGT fame) and the Most Extras at Rams Head On Stage Annapolis, MD. She also recently opened for John K (of American idol fame) on his SALT + LIGHT TOUR at the Songbyrd Music House in Washington, DC. She also had the American Idol 23 experience this past year and performed in front of the judges. It was a great experience performing for Lionel, Luke and Carrie.

Callum was accepted to the prestigious Berklee College of Music Boston, MA. She will be studying remotely and in person while she continues on her journey, releasing and performing music across the country.
